Why are we doing this research?

Parenting can be very rewarding; however, it can also be frustrating and stressful. This research is looking at how a self-regulation program for children in combination with a supportive and educational parent group can develop children's self-regulation, improve child's behaviour, and decrease parenting stress.

When and Where

- Information session: University of the Fraser Valley Chilliwack Campus on January 10th, contact us for more information!
- Program runs from January 13th - March 12th, 2015 on Tuesdays or Thursdays from 1:00-3:00pm, your choice!
- Program will take place at Sardis Family Place
