Chilliwack Youth Health Centre

The Chilliwack Youth Health Centre has two sites dedicated to wellness for youth and young adults ages 12-26 years. You don't need a referral, it's free, confidential, and you can drop-in. Teams of service providers can address your medical and mental health needs. Come see us for anything from acne to sexual health to counselling for issues related to anxiety, depression, substance use, gender identity, family conflict, peer conflict, and school and life planning. Both sites run Tuesday afternoons with counselors and a family doctor on site.

Additionally, we have access to two specialists, one at each site. With a family doctor also on site, direct referrals can be made to the Pediatrician or Psychiatrist (that means a youth might walk in and see a specialist in the same day!)

- Neighbourhood Learning Centre: A Pediatrician is on site every Tuesday from 3-6pm. She specializes in behavioral intervention, school integration, anxiety and depression, and coping skills.
- Stó:lō Wellness Centre: A Psychiatrist, who will see patients up to age 26, is on site every two weeks from 2-5pm. He specializes in complex youth and young adults which could include those that are bipolar, schizophrenic, and/or have severe OCD, and likely require medication.
